

Implementing a Just Energy Transition

Putting the puzzle pieces together to transform commitments and financing into implementable and scalable solutions

Political economy, headwinds ahead!

From vested interests to winning narrative and the politicization of justice, political economy explains why this is a uphill battle.

Policy design, planning, regulations, administrative rules

When political intents get lost in translation through the implementation cycle.

Implementers are humans

From coordination and capacity issues to implementers' world views and interests: Implementation as an organizational change management challenge

Financing & funding

What is just transition finance? where and how does it flow gto the right level... or not?

The black box of everyday barriers

Local uptake, timing, identity and barriers to market transformation: when implementation becomes art more than science.